Summertime Special

There's nothing quite like the golden days of summer at Dungate Manor! As the sunshine graced our gardens and patios, residents, staff, and visitors alike soaked up the warmth with joyful gatherings, lively conversations, and plenty of laughter.

From open days to afternoons under the parasols with friends, this month has been filled with the kind of moments that make lasting memories. Here's a look back at the highlights of our sunny summer days together.

Glad to care week

What a delight it was to host our Open Day during Glad to Care Week! The sun was shining, spirits were high, and the garden was buzzing with joy as we opened our doors to the wider community. Family, friends, and local visitors joined us for a wonderful garden party, complete with music, laughter, and plenty of treats. It was a special day of celebration and connection - one that reminded us just how much warmth and support surrounds Dungate Manor.

As part of our Open Day celebrations during Glad to Care Week, we were thrilled to welcome photographer Joe to Dungate Manor. With his camera in hand and the blue skies above, Joe captured the joy and togetherness of the day beautifully. From candid laughs to cheerful group shots, every moment reflected the warmth and spirit of our home. His photos are a wonderful reminder of a day filled with sunshine, smiles, and shared memories.
